

Register today to ensure you don't miss Agronomy Update 2021: Virtual Edition!

Sign on to learn about the latest information for farmers, agronomists and industry partners from the comfort of your own home. How plants respond to biotic and abiotic pressures, which diseases and insect pests may be of concern for 2021, and if weed phenology can influence management options, are just a few topics being covered. Additionally, a panel will discuss how they adapt to modern-day challenges in a reduced-tillage system.

This two-day conference is an excellent opportunity for education and networking. Extra Q&A sessions have been built into the program to allow participants to ask additional questions to presenters and discuss agronomy topics amongst themselves.

Continuing Education Units will be available for Certified Crop Advisors. Pesticide Applicator and Certified Crop Science Consultant credits will be requested.
